Intermediate Intelligence Course (Scientific)

1. The completion of the third offering of subject course becomes the occasion for expressing my thanks and appreciation to you for the contribution you have made to the curriculum. The students have been most complimentary in commenting on your presentation, particularly the informal manner of discussion and the apt illustrations from current problems in the estimative field.

2. I also wish to include appreciation for your lectures on the production of estimates to the students of the Basic Intelligence Course. These, too, have been informative and stimulating.
